Eagles Hotel California

"Hotel California" is the title track from the Eagles' album of the same name and was released as a single in February 1977. Writing credits for the song are shared by Don Felder (music), Don Henley, and Glenn Frey (lyrics). The Eagles' original recording of the song features Henley singing the lead vocals and concludes with an extended section of electric guitar interplay between Felder and ...

Hotel California by the Eagles: What was it actually about ...

Hotel California was arguably the band's best single album--it was certainly the Eagles' biggest original disc-- and it also underscored the band's need to make a big statement. The title tune reflected the album's theme of paradise lost in California, painting this picture with a musical arrangement that punctuated strumming guitars with dramatic drums, and perhaps the band's most famous lyric: "You can check out any time you like, but you can never leave."

Hotel California is no exception. There is the single CD, the 2 CD expanded set with the 10 track live concert, and the super deluxe overpriced edition with several items including a 5.1 Blu-ray. My review is for the 2 CD Expanded Edition. The original album sounds good.
